

P2P Survey

National-Scale Feedback from Industry Practitioners to Academic Computing Departments

What matters most in undergraduate computing education?

The country's leading computing programs want to hear from industry pros like you to stay responsive to evolving trends.

The CRA Practitioner-to-Professor (P2P) Survey is an NSF-supported project to provide undergraduate computing programs with actionable feedback from computing professionals of all levels.

Survey participants are entered to win a $100 gift card and get early access to the results to learn the latest job skill trends.
