

Hard Problems and Research Opportunities

- Self-evolutionary systems that redefines input and outputs
- Defined language to define and automate cyber-social learning system
- Rigorous challenges of eliciting, representing, and adapting to stakeholder needs at different levels of granularity (individual, group, societal)
- Defining and dealing with ethics issues in cyber-social learning systems
- Identifying and reducing bias in cyber-social learning systems