

Boston University -- ECE Teaching Faculty

The Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering at Boston University invites applications for an anticipated teaching position beginning the fall term of 2022. This non-tenure track position will be at the level of Instructor, Lecturer or possibly a Professor of Practice. Interested candidates should be committed to delivering excellent courses at all levels in Electrical and Computer Engineering. Particular areas of need are introductory programming, software engineering, operating systems, networks and algorithms, and senior design.

Applicants for the position must have a Ph.D. in Electrical Engineering, Computer Engineering, Computer Science, or related field. Ideal candidates will have a track record of excellence in teaching.

Salary will be provided for the 9-month academic year. Possibilities of support in the summer include summer classes, and various outreach programs.

Instructional faculty in the Electrical and Computer Engineering department are expected to teach multiple courses per year (typically at least four) with multiple sections of the same course counting towards that total. These positions come with full benefits.

ECE at BU is a world-class department with excellent resources that is steadily gaining national and international prominence for its exceptional research and education record. ECE is part of BU's rapidly growing and innovative College of Engineering, and currently consists of 47 faculty members, 325 graduate students, and 350 BS majors.
